

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I have said throughout the preparation of this Archive that I have had to work without such obvious aids as Grove's Dictionary of Music and Musicians and Yorkshire editions of the Yorkshire Post newspaper. Ernest Bradbury kept his work meticulously, often in duplicate, but several moves since and much sorting have meant this has not, alas, remained the case. But were it not for those mentioned below it would be far less detailed; indeed, probably non-existent.

I thank my step-son, the Revd. Nicholas Bradbury for suggesting I undertake this Archive; my daughter, Mrs Frances Parkes and Mrs John Hillaby for supplying practical help known only to them; my brother-in-law Mr Laurence Bradbury for supplying material and information as well as Mrs Mary Beat, Dr. Francis Jackson, Mr. Harry Cartwright, Miss Jennifer Bate, Mr. Max Drucquer, Miss Norma Procter and Mr Peter Palmer, founder of the East Midlands Music Theatre, Nottingham.

I am grateful for much photocopying, freely provided, from Mr Matthew Reason (Edinburgh Festival), Mr Antony Bowden and Mr Lowinger Madison (Three Choirs, Gloucester), Mrs Jackie Cowdrey (Royal Albert Hall), Mrs Clare Colvin (ENO), Ms Pam Wheeler (The Britten-Pears Library), Ms Ros Westwood (Buxton Museum), Mr Rodney Milnes (OPERA magazine), Harrogate Festival and The Yorkshire Post (Mr David Hartshorne). I also acknowledge valuable assistance from Mr Michael Kennedy (The Sunday Telegraph), Mr Gerald Lerner (The Times), Mr John Percival and Mr Noel Goodwin.

Almost finally, Ms Rita Freeman of York City Archives, the reference libraries (local studies) of Bradford, Leeds, Huddersfield, Halifax and York, the Westminster Music Library, Finsbury Reference Library and the British Newspaper Library in London, the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, — the BBC archives at Caversham and Glyndebourne

Finally and above all, Professor Rushton and Mr. Christopher Sheppard here in Leeds University and the Music Libraries Trust for their sustained and sustaining support in illuminating a remarkable period in music history, particularly in Yorkshire as witnessed by my husband who lived for music from boyhood, enlivened it with humour and who fervently wished that others should realise its potential.
